Seek Opinion Of Residents

The town may know, in greater detail and with more exactness, what it thinks about industry, residential growth, zoning, schools and education, by next fall.

A town survey is being mailed today by the League of Women Voters. In an effort to find out just what residents of the community do think about these problems, and several others.

The questionnaire is being mailed to every third household, taken from the 1960 street lists.

Envelopes have been enclosed for ease in mailing the completed document, and it is hoped that most will be returned immediately.

The data contained in the forms will be compiled and processed on IBM machines during the summer, and will be reported to the town next fall.

The form being sent today does not identify individuals so that each family receiving one may

Hockey Denied As School Sport

Hockey may become part of the recreational program of the town, but it won't be recognized as a sport in the schools.

That decision by the School Committee was reached Tuesday night, after the Committee heard a negative recommendation from Capt. Edward I. Erickson.

He suggested that the program might fall within the framework of the town-wide recreation program, however, when a full-time director has had a chance to consider the possibility.

A request to recognize hockey as at least a minor, or intra-mural sport, had been made by a committee of parents. They pointed out that boys are now playing in the Pee Wee League, then have no continuing instruction. An informal team has been playing

Patch Testing Program Over

Only 11 positive reactors have been found, following a three-grade Vollmer Patch testing program to find positive reactors to tuberculosis.

The tests are carried out in grades one, nine and eleven.

Those indicating a positive reaction are taken to the Essex County Sanatorium in Middleton for an x-ray. Positive reaction does not mean that the individual

Used Barn As Launching Pad

The latest in do-it-yourself crazes - firing off home-made rockets - had a disastrous result in a barn on River rd. last week, and may result in many old, abandoned buildings being condemned by the building inspector.

Fire department reports state that boys, attempting to fire home-made rockets, apparently started the fire in the barn, which was abandoned.

Asian Society Has Taken Lead Among Student Groups

In the period of one short year, the Phillips Academy Asian Society has grown from the mere ambition of one student to the largest student organization on campus.

Over 500 young men, just five-eighths of the entire student body, are quite seriously taking an interest in Asia for the first time.

Credit for the success of the Academy's newest student group can be given in large part to William A. Drayton Jr. of New York City. Now in his final year

School Use Vote Put Off

The School Committee has again deferred action on the Andover Recreation Council's request for use of the high school facilities Thursday nights.

The decision came after members of the Council appealed to the Committee for permission to use the building to handle the 250 adults who have registered for various courses. These are now being conducted each Thursday evening at the Junior High, but Council members have explained that facilities are far less adequate there than at the newer high school.

Theodore Burr, spokesman for the group, said particular problems are faced in the beginning bridge group, where 80-90 are registered; in the art room, where 23 are taking lessons; in a class on investing, for which some 45 adults have signed up; and in a class on foreign cooking, with 19 registrants. He said it is anticipated that additional registrations will be accepted tonight, the second of the current 10-week series.

Girls Softball League Begun

An All-Girl softball league will be operated in Andover this year.

Girls from 12-18 years of age are eligible to take part in the activity, which has been financed by the Recreation Committee. It is the first venture of its kind in the town which offers summer athletic activity to the girls.

The gym teachers at both the junior and senior high schools will accept registrations. In addition, ninth grade students may register with Patricia Lynch, and Mary Passanisi will accept registrations at the High School.

Mrs. Ruth Lynch of Vine st. will also take registrations.

If initially successful, proponents of the League hope it will become a permanent part of the town's athletic program.

For the moment, they are being housed in the auditorium, where they get blackboard instruction. During the discussion, it was noted by Mr. Burt and others in the group that the high school facility is also far more attractive, and the accommodations are much better.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson had refused the first request to use the structure, then the School Committee reiterated that decision only two weeks ago. Then, when the large attendance created housing problems last Thursday night, the third request was made.

In a discussion later in their meeting, at least three of the School Committee expressed sympathy with the problems faced by the Council. Dr. Milton J. Meyers, John Sullivan and Mrs. Reta Buchan indicated their sympathy with the group's request.

Supt. Erickson urged that the group be housed in the Junior High, and suggested that there is plenty of room for them if they indicate in advance how many chairs will be required, and other details of their requirements. He said the cost factor at the high school is not significant, but thought that as long as plenty of room exists at the Junior High, there is not adequate reason to open the high school.

Member Robert McIntyre suggested that the Junior High be used just as long as is possible, and commented that it would not be practical to allow the use of the high school on a temporary basis. Both he and William A. Doherty believe that there would be no way to discontinue use of the newer building, once the group is allowed to make use of the facilities there, even if the registration fell off and the Junior High became adequate.

Mr. Erickson told Council members that they would need two custodians at the High School, instead of the one now hired by the group, because there would be a lot of extra work involved. He noted that the layout of the building would demand that practically the entire ground floor be opened, with more corridors to sweep after the group leaves.

One of the pleas of the Council also centered around the belief that taxpayers should be entitled to the use of property being paid for by tax dollars.

Finally, the School Committee decided to postpone a decision on the subject until its next meeting.

By that time, members felt that the registration would be set more definitely. They indicated that a continuing high registration would probably result in approval for the use of the high school, while any significant drop in the attendance would indicate that the Junior High would be adequate.

Member Doherty felt that, with, daylight saving time coming, the attendance would fall off sharply, thus solving the problem without more action.

this year, made up of boys in the Junior High.

The parents asked recognition so that the boys could be covered by the insurance available for football and baseball participants.

Member Robert McIntyre told the group that recognition of hockey on anything but an intra-mural basis would automatically require participation in the Northeast Conference schedule - and this would entail considerably higher expenses than the $700 per year suggested by the parents.

In general, the superintendent's negative recommendation was based on the fact that seven sports now exist for boys and only one for girls; that the school population is not large enough to support another athletic activity; and that there are other programs in the school system that should be implemented before hockey, if money is to be made available for anything. He had conferred with the principals and athletic director Donald D. Dunn before making his decision.

Four parents in attendance were John N. Cole, Glenn Inman, Stephen Whitney and Dr. Joseph Gurry. They suggested that an informal, intra-mural activity would be more than adequate, and indicated that the insurance coverage becomes the most important factor in gaining some sort of recognition.

They also commented that the free ice time, offered by Phillips Academy, might not be available at some future time when the subject is considered favorably.

Mr. Erickson pointed out to the group that at least one of the hours set for practice - early on a Sunday morning - would not be available once hockey became a school project. He said protests would certainly be forthcoming if a school-sponsored sport should be scheduled on Sunday mornings.

Dear friends,

When is a funeral well conducted? We would say that a funeral is well conducted when those in attendance are not conscious that it is being conducted at all. When the details of direction are unnoticed, when there is no confusion, when the program moves quietly and smoothly. We try always to make our presence as inconspicuous as possible.

Respectfully,

Donald E. Lundgren

Roland B. Greeley of Adams, who also serves as planning consultant to the Planning Board, helped League members prepare the questions in forms that can be answered easily, and that can be tabulated accurately and fully.

A letter is enclosed with each questionnaire from Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, pointing out that municipal officials will find the information extremely valuable in determining what the citizens want.

Mrs. Charles Leigh is chairman of the League committee, and has been assisted by Mrs. Joseph Senuta, Mrs. Daniel Frishman, Mrs. William Weaver, Mrs. Bernard Ristuccia, Mrs. William Chicoine, Mrs. David Duncan, Mrs. Jack Kyger, Mrs. Charles St. Clair, Mrs. Thomas H. Simmonds and Mrs. Joseph Paladino.

The survey idea was suggested to town agencies some months ago, after similar projects had been conducted in several communities. Municipal agencies had expressed their feeling that the results were extremely valuable in determining what the townspeople want to have in their towns.

The questions were obtained locally from the various boards and committees, and were approved in their final form by them.

Hearing March 30

On Building Request

The Merrimack-Essex Electric Co. will have a hearing in the state house March 30, on its request to the Department of Public Utilities for permission to erect a sub-station on Webster st., near the Lawrence line.

The Selectmen have received notice of the hearing, which also includes the request that the right to construct the station be given regardless of any zoning provisions in the area.

The Planning Board is being asked to consider the proposal before any final action is taken to approve or object to the request.

The station will presumably step down high voltage coming into the area into current usable in homes. Historical 1436

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

A Nuisance - But To Everyone

Gravel pits always create a nuisance when they exist in a residential area - but is this sufficient reason to ban them?

A hearing Monday night brought out many residents of Central and Abbot sts., who objected particularly to the noise and vibration from trucks, and to a lesser degree to the dust and noise from the so-called Foster pit itself.

We agree that trucks may be annoying - and they certainly have annoyed many residents in scattered sections of town over the past few years.

But let's face the facts.

Trucks annoy residents of Central and Abbot sts. no more than they bother residents of, say, River rd. The vibration is the same, the clashing of gears is no less, the possible danger to children is no greater.

Unless we are willing to ban the operation of gravel trucks in the community, unless they have haul roads directly to a major highway, it appears that we must put up with them.

In any event, the pit in question existed prior to the adoption of the zoning by-laws and thus is a recognized non-conforming use in the area. It is doubtful whether the operation can be denied, even if that should be the Selectmen's desire. We remember all too well the attempts made to close down the Essex Sand and Gravel operation, and the resulting court edict that it may continue.

Garden Plot On Main St.

From time to time we hear people conversing about their town, and ultimately they turn to discussing the beautification of Main st.

One suggestion appears to have merit - the creation of the small plot in front of the town hall as a garden, perhaps with the flag pole in the center.

Obviously this small area, which now parks four cars, could be spared from that purpose without adding to the parking problems in the shopping district. And the addition of a spot of beauty in front of our municipal building would certainly be welcome.

Possibly, if the town saw fit to remove the hard surface and replace it with loam, an organization such as the Garden Club might offer its services in planting and maintaining the area.

One incidental benefit from such a project could be the relocation of the flag pole. Now projecting high into the skies, the pole has been out of use for many months because there is no equipment available to hoist a man to the top of the pole. We have been forced to use the Lawrence ladder truck for this before, but that piece of equipment broke down in our neighboring city, while trying to perform this same task at a school there. Perhaps it could be placed in a base sunk into the ground, thus making it easier to service the pole, and to maintain the tradition of having the flag flying in front of the town hall.

Lower Quorum Suggested

The suggestion has been made by several citizens that the town's quorum requirement be reduced, so that it is easier to handle the problem of town meeting adjournments.

As is quite obvious, there are extreme difficulties on occasion, when fewer than the required 350 voters attend. There have been times when a special meeting has failed; and then there are occasions when adjourned sessions must be further adjourned until 350 voters show up.

Whether or not it is advisable to reduce the quorum is a question that will take some study.

While it would be obviously easier to hold a meeting if, say, 150 became a quorum, it would also further reduce the need for voter participation in our municipal affairs.

Perhaps there is a middle ground - one where a quorum for a special town meeting would remain relatively high, while reducing the number for an adjourned meeting when remaining articles are necessary but routine.

Some thought might be given to this general problem before the next annual session, with the hope that an answer might be presented to the voters for action then.

Ain't so in its

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"Both your news story and editorial in last week's Townsman concerning my remarks about our town meeting form of government contain inaccuracies which I am going to challenge. Since both your accounts are similar, I am going to treat them together to conserve space.

"There are three possible sources for your or my knowledge of what I said at that Monday session. One is my own notes, which I followed almost verbatim. The second is your recollection, supplemented by any notes of yours. The third is the tape - the only authoritative source. I have not heard the recording.

"Whatever differences of view now exist between you and me (or between Mr. Allen and me) are based partly on remembrance. But differences there are and I want to point them out here.

"1. Your stories practically put the words 'town officials' in my mouth. I believe my actual words were 'civic leaders' which is far broader and was intended to include clergymen, editors and anyone else who influences public behavior.

"2. I believe I neither said nor implied that our town officials (or any one else) wished the meetings to remain small to put something over on the voters. Nothing could have been further from my mind than this malicious thought.

"I did indeed say that our civic leaders urged all the voters to attend town meeting and that this was said tongue in cheek. I hoped the reason for this was clear from the tenor of my argument. Because if our almost 10,000 voters took their advice, utter pandemonium would result. Were the advice of our leaders taken literally, the ensuing chaos would tax your own reporting ability to describe. I can't see how anyone in his right mind can seriously invite such disaster. And many thousands would inevitably have been disenfranchised, because you can't stack citizens in a hall like cordwood.

"3. I feel sure I used neither the word 'officials' nor 'selectmen'. I did mean that the size of our meetings had to be kept manageable - neither too big to handle nor so small that business can not be transacted. These are the twin dangers of our present system. The voters are damned if they do come in force and damned if they don't come in sufficient numbers. I called this dilemma our civic paradox.

"4. Both your reports indicate that I talked a second time in answer to the criticism (presumably Selectman Allen's). This is not true. I listened to what I considered unfair criticisms without uttering a word in my own defense. The words ascribed to me are not mine.

"If there are any errors or misunderstandings above, only the tape will prove it. I would be willing to check the tape provided it is agreed in advance that, as a result, public apologies would be made to whomsoever apologies are due.

"Where does all this leave us, Mr. Editor? We have real problems. Little did I realize that Monday, that the very next evening was to prove my point so forcefully. My chief point in that town meeting in Andover is no longer working satisfactorily. I submit this not as a theory but as a fact. Our attendance so far has been 6%, 5% and 2% of the voters!

"This leaves us two clear choices. We can either be complacent about it all and continue to ignore the facts of civic life or, recognizing the facts, we can look into the situation with the hope of coming up with some more satisfactory answer.

"It is my belief that our proposal was turned down not because it lacked merit but only because it was novel. Given time for further thought and discussion, the merits will become apparent to more and more of our citizens."

Dino G. Valz
P.S. To end on a cheerful note didn't it do your heart good to see a small group of high school seniors at town meeting? And didn't you ask yourself why all seniors were not required to attend? I did.

D.G.V.
Editor's note: Mr. Valz is so right, in one of his comments - we erred in stating that he spoke a second time, explaining an impression created during his remarks. It was Henry Wolfson, a Taxpayers Association director, who took the floor to explain the remarks.

However, the impression that his statement about 'tongue in cheek' attitudes was addressed to the town fathers was not ours alone. Selectman Allen apparently received the same impression - and quickly denied that town officials actually want small attendance, even while urging more voters to attend.

ASIAN SOCIETY GREW RAPIDLY

that Asia must be more thoroughly understood and appreciated by those who will assume positions of leadership in the country. Noting that Phillips graduates do, indeed, reach these positions, Drayton believes that the Society will help them to begin understanding that section of the world.

Although Drayton admits that he actually just "stumbled on" the fact that Asia represents one-half of the world - and thus began to interest himself in the subject - some Andover students and instructors have more than a passing personal knowledge of the subject, and interest in foreign affairs.

Two of the officers of the Society have family foreign service backgrounds.

William R. Torbert is the son of a foreign service family. His dad is currently charge d'affaires in Budapest, after other foreign assignments.

Antony S. Robbins' family has lived in Japan and Germany, and his father is now serving in Tehran, Iran.

Jim Russell, business manager of the Newsletter, has some first-hand knowledge too - his father is at the embassy in Pakistan.

The first faculty advisor to the group was Raymond Lamontagne, who taught at Yale-in-China, and who is married to a close relative of a minister in the government of South Viet Nam. Mr. Lamontagne is now back at Yale, working in the field of Japanese-American law.

Currently active as faculty advisor is H. Schuyler Royce Jr., who taught at the University of Malaya in Singapore and studied for his doctorate in Chinese History. He teaches English history and about major personalities in the history of the world.

Drayton, who describes his family as "The Boston Beantype - one that has little interest in foreign affairs", admits his folks are somewhat aghast at his interest in Asia, and his desire to visit will gratefully

13 ESSEX ST. ANDOVER, MASS.

India.

If this happens, the trip will be Drayton's second to foreign countries. Last summer he toured Soviet Russia under the auspices of the National Students' Association, accompanying four graduate students of the University of Colorado.

When he gets to India, Drayton wants to visit and talk with the people, and become increasingly familiar with their thinking, and to understand their culture.

In the meantime, he spends much of his spare time reading about India, and its contributions to the world.

During the remainder of the year, the Society will sponsor additional films on India and Asia; plans to arrange exhibits in the Academy library; and is encouraging informal discussion groups at least once each week, to further explore subjects discussed at the more formal meetings held Sunday nights.

During this year, one of the Society's speakers was Dr. Edwin O. Reischauer, recently appointed as ambassador to Japan.

Drayton feels that by obtaining speakers of unquestioned distinction, films that are top-flight; and discussion leaders with widespread knowledge of their field, the Society can continue to grow in prestige and influence at the Academy.

Although this well-spoken and serious young man will be leaving the Academy in June, he has no intention of abandoning his interest in Asia.

Current plans call for his enrollment at Harvard next fall, with a major in politics and economics. And of special interest, he explained, is the opportunity to learn Mandarin while at the College.

Nor, may it be added, has the Academy any intention of abandoning the Asia Society, even though one of its strongest proponents graduates.

"There's a great deal of enthusiasm", comments Mr. Royce, "and it's a most important society. It will continue to grow, in numbers and importance".

gested Monday night that all old structures around town be examined critically by the building inspector to determine whether they should be condemned.

Doyle said his family owns the land on which the barn stood.

In connection with this suggestion, members of the fire department were this week, preparing a list of all the old, unused structures they could recall. The list can be checked by fire officials and the buildings should be condemned and taken down.

Selectman Doyle emphasized that the old structures, when used as launching pads by children firing rockets, are highly dangerous.

Men's Club To Hear McKiernan

ARTHUR L. RAIRIGH

At the next meeting of the South Church Men's Club Wednesday March 29, the guest speaker will be John F. McKiernan, who will present a most interesting story about the first atomic electric generating plant in New England.

This plant is located in Rowe with an atomic reactor now in operation producing electricity for the New England area. A very interesting film of the Yankee Atomic Plant will be shown in connection with the talk.

This promises to be a very interesting meeting and members who have sons interested in atomic energy and its future are urged to bring them to the meeting.

Mr. McKiernan is an engineer with the Merrimack-Essex Electric Company and is well-known locally. A graduate of Tufts University, he also holds a degree in Business Administration from Northeastern University.

Supper will be served prior to the meeting and reservations should be made with the callers. Arthur L. Rairigh is secretary of the club.

has TB.

Parental and pupil response to the testing program was excellent this year, with a total of 746 students tested out of a possible 750.

Students in the 11th grade have received the test for the third time, and two new reactors were discovered, who had not been in the class when it was tested previously.

The patch is applied to the arm and left there for 48 hours. Then the results are read. While not infallible, the results have been consistent during the last five years, according to health officials.

Tested this year were 329 in the first grade, 248 in grade nine and 163 in the 11th grade. The number of positive reactors per grade were 2, 2, and 7. School officials point out happily that, despite the large turnover within the student body, the number of reactors is small.

Men's Club To Hear McKiernan

ARTHUR L. RAIRIGH

At the next meeting of the South Church Men's Club Wednesday, March 29, the guest speaker will be John F. McKiernan, who will present a most interesting story about the first atomic electric generating plant in New England.

This plant is located in Rowe, with an atomic reactor now in operation producing electricity for the New England area. A very interesting film of the Yankee Atomic Plant will be shown in connection with the talk.

This promises to be a very interesting meeting and members who have sons interested in atomic energy and its future are urged to bring them to the meeting.

Mr. McKiernan is an engineer with the Merrimack-Essex Electric Company and is well-known locally. A graduate of Tufts University, he also holds a degree in Business Administration from Northeastern University.

Supper will be served prior to the meeting and reservations should be made with the callers. Arthur L. Rairigh is secretary of the club.

has TB. Parental and pupil response to the testing program was excellent this year, with a total of 744 students tested out of a possible 750.

Students in the 11th grade have received the test for the third time, and two new reactors were discovered, who had not been in the class when it was tested previously.

The patch is applied to the arm and left there for 48 hours. Then the results are read. While not infallible, the results have been consistent during the last five years, according to health officials.

Tested this year were 329 in the first grade, 248 in grade nine and 163 in the 11th grade. The number of positive reactors per grade were 2, 2, and 7. School officials point out happily that, despite the large turnover within the student body, the number of reactors is small.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MARJORIE O'BRIEN

The home was decorated with colored balloons, which hung about the room. Marjorie received many gifts. Refreshments were served, including a beautiful birthday cake.

trolling the distance between neighboring properties and the pit. The Board also may establish hours during which the pit may operate, and require that many other restrictions be observed.

Coming under attack at the session was a provision in the gravel pit permit, which states that the Selectmen may revoke the right to operate at any time, without notice or hearing.

Mr. Foster proposed an amendment, which would protect him to the extent that notice of a violation must be sent, that time be allowed to correct the error, and that a hearing be held before revocation. The Selectmen voted 4-1, to hold the hearing on the existing permit, which allows immediate revocation of a permit.

Several residents spoke on this portion of the permit, suggesting that there is considerable precedent for allowing hearings and giving proper notice.

Selectman Philip K. Allen agreed with this opinion, and cast the lone negative vote on a motion to disregard the suggested amendment.

However, before the session ended, the Selectmen stated that they always have given an operator proper notice, and would continue this practice. However, they felt that the insertion of this authority into the permit itself is valuable, because it is a problem requires that work be shut down immediately, it can be done.

The gravel pit for which a permit is sought has been operating since before the zoning by-law was adopted, and exists on Central st. as a non-conforming use. Mr. Foster said it will take 4-5 years to remove the gravel contained in the 12 acres.

He agreed that every possible precaution has been taken in the past, and will be again, to make the operation of the pit as agreeable to residents of the area as possible.

The main objections came over alleged vibrations from the heavily-laden gravel trucks and the noise of the vehicles. Speed was also mentioned as a problem, as was the subsequent safety of children.

Mr. Foster said he believes the gravel trucks are safer than cars, as far as the children are concerned, because the boys and girls are warned by the noise that a vehicle is coming.

There were suggestions that trucks be required to use other streets than Central and Abbot, but no decisions were reached.

Several proponents spoke at the hearing, in addition to those objecting to the trucks. In main, even the speakers who were concerned about the traffic indicated that they have no wish to put Mr. Foster out of business.

They recognized that the Foster family has been in town for a long time, and one speaker even pointed out that some consideration should be given to Mr. Foster because of the many things done for the community by his ancestors.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts PROBATE COURT Docket No. 267792

To ARTHUR D. QUINTAL of Andover and BROADWAY SAVINGS BANK of Lawrence, both in said County of Essex, and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by DOROTHY J. All of said boundaries are determined by the Court to be located as shown on Plan No. 20587D, dated February 19, 1954, drawn by CHARLES E. CYR, C. Methuen Moderator Didn't Like Comments Made Here

Comments about Methuen's limited town meeting form of government, made at the adjourned session of Andover's town meeting March 13, came under fire from Methuen's moderator, Atty. John Griffin, in an opening statement to that community's elected town meeting members.

Methuen held its first session Wednesday, March 15. Atty. Griffin took note of published statements by speakers at the Andover town meeting, during a discussion of the proposal to study the representative form of town meeting.

He commented that remarks had been made by a "political theorist", and suggested that Methuen town meeting has had no difficulty in the past in obtaining a quorum, as has Andover. Mr. Griffin suggested that before comments are made by Andover residents about Methuen political affairs, they should examine the fact that Andover failed to gain a quorum for its meeting March 16.

Later in the meeting, one town meeting member, while speaking on another subject, said he thinks the comments made in Andover about the Methuen town meeting are valid.

A second speaker, also referring to remarks passed in Andover about "packed" meetings, suggested that minorities, as well as majorities, can "pack" a meeting.
